Gould & Ratner is pleased to announce recent leadership changes at the practice level. Rob Chidester, Corporate Practice, Steve Gustafson, Tax and Wealth Transfer Practice, Joe Marzo, Real Estate Practice and Eric Sparks, Litigation Practice, have been selected to serve as practice chairs. Joe and Rob will serve their first terms as practice chairs, while Eric and Steve continue their service, previously having served for several years.

Additionally, the firm has established the new role of practice group vice chair. Partners Ammara Khan, Corporate Practice, Aaron May, Real Estate Practice, Vanessa Tiradentes, Litigation Practice and Jennifer Tolsky, Tax and Wealth Transfer Practice, have been selected as the firm's inaugural practice vice-chairs. This new rotating role will provide partners with leadership training and exposure to firm operations, and will help develop the next generation of Gould & Ratner leaders.
